President's Foreword

I desire to thank most sincerely all our members and friends for their untailing support in making possible the continuance of our work for the Mothers and Babies who sought our help during the past year. Our students enrolled both for Infant Welfare and Mothercraft training courses have again fully maintained the high examination standards set by their predecessors. In this training section we are greatly indebted to our Staff and Visiting Lecturers for their skill's and patient assistance throughout the prescribed curriculums. We have been encouraged by the growing number of young women from city and country areas who desire to qualify in pursuit of our objectives.

Bena. Angliss

President.

Report of the Finance and Administration Committee

The administration of the work of the Hospital and Training School has been well maintained by our Matron and Secretary-Manager. We are, however, concerned with the rapid rise during the year in all sections of our operating costs, resulting in a higher financial deficit than recorded for some years past. The rise in unemployment in industrial areas has caused a reduction in our average bed-state figures while the volume of donations upon which we are so dependent has fallen below normal. We are making special efforts to increase the number of those who year by year give generously in support of our invaluable community services, but we will also need further assistance from Government subsidies.

Matron's Report

The 1970's have brought even greater demands for many more qualified people, specialising in the care of infants and young children, to work in our community.

We are indeed grateful to our highly skilled medical lecturers, dental lecturer and nursing tutors for the expert knowledge that they so freely impart to both Infant Welfare and Mothercraft Nurse Students.

There have been quite a number of trained Infant Welfare Sisters who have returned to the hospital for Refresher Courses in this branch of nursing. Trained Mothercraft Nurses have come to "Tweddle" also for Refresher Courses.
