President's Foreword

I desire to thank most sincerely the Council and Hospital members and friends for their unfailing support in making possible the continuance of our work for the Mothers and Babies who have sought our help during the past year.

Our students enrolled both for infant welfare and mothercraft training courses have again fully maintained the high examination standards set by their predecessors.

In this training section we are greatly indebted to our Matron Ballard, staff and visiting lecturers for their skills and assistance throughout the prescribed curriculums.

We have been encouraged by the number of young women from city and country areas who desire to qualify in pursuit of our objectives.

MATRON'S REPORT

During the last year it has been so good to have been a member of a team of people who have joined together to give the best possible care to those who come to us for guidance concerning matters of Maternal and Child Health Care.

The continuing work of our wonderful auxiliaries is of tremendous value to our hospital.

Central Auxiliary, with their President Miss May Angliss, and members, have had many functions and excelled once again with their marvellous donations.

Footscray Auxiliary, with their President, Miss Iris Williams, and members, have been very active and have donated very generously also.

Plunket Auxiliary, with their President, Mrs. R. Clark, and members, have shown great enthusiasm in their fund-raising and they have also donated generously.

Doctor Dorothy Egan, Paediatrician, from Guys Hospital, London, visited "Tweddle" on 1st April, 1976. Dame Mary Herring, our Patroness, warmly welcomed Doctor Egan. Doctor J. G. White, Mrs. Adrian Gibson, members of auxiliaries, Infant Welfare Students and staff enjoyed morning tea with Doctor Egan.

Doctor Egan enjoyed our children and Doctor White explained to her the reason for the different children being at "Tweddle". We were privileged to hear such a talented woman speak of her work with children in London.

Dame Jacobena Angliss, Miss Baliard and members of the staff attended many functions over the past year, representing our hospital.

The Maternal and Child Health Division's 50th Jubilee Celebration was held in April of this year. Many excellent papers were given and those who attended found it a most profitable time.

Dame Jacobena and Miss Ballard represented this hospital at a reception given at Government House in honour of Her Royal Highness, The Princess Margaret, Countess of Snowden.

OBITUARY: We were sad to hear of the passing of Mrs. L. John and Miss W. Mulqueen this year. Both people were Infant Welfare graduates of this hospital and will be missed in the community.

GRADUATION DAY, 3rd JUNE, 1976: Dame Jacobena Angliss, with her usual charm, welcomed everybody to our Graduation. Dame Mary Herring spoke to the graduates and stressed the great importance of the work in which they would become involved.

Mrs. Lindsay Thompson presented badges and certificates to Infant Welfare and Mothercraft students.

Mrs. J. Bristow, Mayoress of Footscray, and a member of the Footscray Auxiliary, presented special prizes to Ellen Hinchcliff and Debra O'Neil for excellent results at the State Examination.

Doctor J. G. White spoke to the graduates and wished them well for the future. Doctor A. E. Wilmot spoke to those present and commented on the different areas associated with Maternal and Child Health that graduates were already involved in.

Messrs. W. K. Wilson and J. McDougall also congratulated the students and told of the work at "Tweddle".

For the very first time in the history of this hospital, a mother and daughter graduated together. Mrs. Rosamond Beale, a mother of eight children, graduated in Infant Welfare and her eldest daughter, Genevieve, graduated in Mothercraft Nursing.

CHRISTMAS DAY, 1975: Dame Jacobena visited the hospital on Christmas Eve as has been her usual custom over the years and distributed gifts to all. Christmas Day was both happy for the children and staff. This was made possible by many generous donations from so many kind people.

Nationwide Catering Service excelled on Christmas Day, and all agreed that the dinner was a delicious one. Mr. Andre Grivas, Mr. Peter Anderson and Mrs. Hilda Brown are to be congratulated on their great effort.

During the year several people returned to the staff of this hospital. We

Interview

Mrs. GEORGE FOLWELL

Mrs. G. Folwell with sons, Geoffrey and Glen, at Tweddle. Both children have been at this hospital with their mother.

June Folwell's first child was born in April, 1973. June was determined that she wished to breast feed her son, Geoffrey.

Unfortunately the hospital staff were too fully occupied to give the individual attention needed.

The hospital said she would need to bottle feed her son and wished to discharge her. June enquired whether there was anywhere she could go to obtain the necessary help.

A list of hospitals was given. From this list she selected the Tweddle Baby Hospital as it was the one most convenient to her home. Arrangements were made for her admission to "Tweddle".

On the seventh day, June was feeling despondent as sufficient milk was still not coming.

Opposite "Tweddle" is the Footscray Football Ground. It was a Saturday and Footscray was playing "at home". June wanted to go to the match. Matron said, "Why not?" So June went and she became thoroughly immersed in the game. This relaxed her — which was just what she needed.

On her return to "Tweddle" she found the milk supply had improved to the extent that she was able to fully breast feed Geoffrey.

One of the great benefits to her at "Tweddle" was that she was free of household cares, but was still able to see her husband and even to go home to provide a meal for him. June also said that at "Tweddle" she was treated with love and consideration and freed from frustrations.

When her second son was born, she had confidence and was able to feed him immediately; but after three months the milk began to be insufficient.

June had the knowledge many mothers do not have — she knew where to come for assistance. Her second son, Glen, stayed at "Tweddle" for ten days and June came to the hospital each day.

Because she had to care for her first son at home, she could not reside at "Tweddle". Freedom from the responsibility for her failure to satisfy the needs of her second son, corrected the trouble.

Recently, June left her second son again at "Tweddle" for a period of two weeks, so that she, her husband and Geoffrey, could go away for a holiday.

This was a further wonderful benefit she received from "Tweddle".

June feels that not sufficient is known by the public of the services rendered by "Tweddle". Matron and her staff give such love and care to their baby patients that more people should know of the Tweddle Baby Hospital. It would be a great loss to Victoria if "Tweddle" ceased to ever exist, she declared.

We interview Infant Welfare Sister, Miss Myrtle Rawolle

MISS RAWOLLE, who is a South Australian by birth, trained at the Royal Adelaide Hospital.

She came to Victoria in 1930 during Australia's worst depression. After nursing at hospitals in Yarrawonga and Warragul and at the Caulfield Repatriation Hospital, she enrolled at the Tweddle Baby Hospital, graduating in Infant Welfare and Mothercraft Nursing in March, 1931.

After graduation, she spent some years practising in private homes and relieving at various Baby Health Centres.

In 1937, she was appointed Infant Welfare Sister in charge of the Newport Baby Health Centre (Williamstown Municipality).

Miss Rawolle continued at Newport for the next 22½ years until 1960, when she retired. Since then, until April 1975, she relieved at Baby Health Centres. For health reasons she now lives in full retirement.

In the 1930's Baby Health Centres were still in the pioneering stage.

There are now some 763 Baby Health (or Infant Welfare) Centres in Victoria. These centres are financed one third by municipalities and two thirds by the government.

If a mother fails to bring her baby to the centre, the Infant Welfare Sister calls on her. If no one is home she leaves a card asking that the Baby Health Centre be contacted.

Besides watching over the health of all babies and infants up to age 5, the centres provide immunisation from tetanus, diphtheria, whooping cough, small pox, measles and poliomyelitis.

Record cards are kept on file until each child attains age 10.

Miss Rawolle says that as she did not own a car, home visits were made by public transport and by foot until her last few years at Newport, when the Council provided a taxi for her use.

Visiting was a very important duty as Infant Welfare Sisters were able to report cases of child neglect or unhealthy living conditions, she recalls.

Not only did Miss Rawolle find her work most interesting but also most important and helpful to mothers and babies.

The average attendance at the centre was 30 to 40 babies daily, with approximately 500 babies on the roll.

Expectant mothers were also encouraged to attend the centre if worried or in doubt.

In November 1946, Infant Welfare graduates of "Tweddle" formed a social and working group for the hospital. They called themselves the Plunket Sisters Welfare Auxiliary. There were 48 sisters at that meeting.

Miss Rawolle, who is a foundation member of that group, has served both as Honorary Secretary and as President for a number of years in each capacity. She has also been a member of the Council of the Tweddle Baby Hospital for the seven years 1970 to 1976 inclusive.

Infant Welfare and Mothercraft training, in Melbourne, commenced in 1920 at the Tweddle Baby Hospital. It was a pioneer of this work in Victoria.

Graduates of "Tweddle" have served Australia well and have also served with credit in many overseas countries.
